WEDGING TOGETHER THE WARPED PLANKS. A POSSIBLE CHANGE IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE FOOT-WALK.

A POSSIBLE CHANGE IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE FOOT-WALK.

A small force of men were engaged yesterday in repairing the planking on the foot-walk of the Bridge. They started at the New-York end, and began by wedging together the planks, which have warped badly during the hot weather. Additional planks were placed in the vacant spaces, and those planks that had suffered considerably from splintering were turned upside down. A new method was employed of fastening the timber to the iron cross-beam below, as the old system had proved insufficient, and nearly one-quarter of the planks were partly loose. The workmen bored holes in the planks and then bolted them to the cross-beams with screw-bolts, other workmen underneath tightening them and putting on caps. The planks were originally spliked to the beams from the under side. There was some surprise exhibited by the public that the repairing had to be begun in a tirdle more than two months after the opening of the Bridge. Repairs were plainly necessary, however, for the gaps between the timbers occasioned by excessive warping have been for some time a subject of conversation among those who cross the Bridge daily. Groups soon began to form about the workmen, but they were duly admonished to pass on by a policeman, and the yawning gap made by the wedging was temporarily covered over by a broad plank, as the sight of the aperture made nervous people feel faint.

A reporter called atthe office of the Bridge Superintendent, Mr. Martin, to get some information about the repairs. Mr. Martin stated that the trustees had waited until the warping was finished before completing the planking. The wood was yellow pine, in lengths of 22½,30 and 37½ feet, and 2½ inchest hick. The planks were secured to the iron cross-beams which span the foot-way at every 7½ feet by hook-boits. In warping, the planks had in very many instances wenched themselves away from the cross-beams which span the foot-way at every 7½ feet by hook-boits. In warping, the planks had in very many instances wenche

For many years back the unlawful exaction of blood money from seamen has grown with such actounding rapidity that to-day it is an outrace of such magnitude as to compet the payment by seamen of 25 per cent of their advance wages to so-called shipping agents, or middle-men, for obtaining employment. These sums vary in amount from $3 to $12 out of an advance of $40. Thirty thousand seamen, on a sverage, are shipped vary in amount from $8 to $12 out of an advance of $40. Thirty thousand seamen, on an average, are shipped annually at this port on irreign vessels alone, and taus a quarter of a milion dollars is unlawfully exacted, and to support whem? Our principal object is to end the pernicious system of extorting blood-money from seamen, and for taut reason alone this bureau is established. A shipping fee of $2 per man will be charged all foreign vessels; a fee of $1 per man will be charged and of the seamen and for tauting men on board at any hour sober and ready for duty. A TREASURER AND $70 MISSING.

A TREASURER AND $70 MISSIAG.

The Long Island Baseball Association is composed of young New-York business men, living in Brooklyn, and belonging to about eight clubs, two of which do not play championship games. They meet at the houses of the members two or three times a year, and play usually once a week—on Saturday. Harry Craske, of No. 58 Greene-ave., Brooklyn, is the president, and Theodore Van Tassel, of the Bedford Club, a young lawyer, of No. 25 Chambers-st., treasurer. The latter was unspected of misapprepriating about young lawyer, of No. 25 Chambers-st., treasurer. The latter was suspected of misapprepriating about $70 of the association's funds. A meeting was held on Wednesday night at Mr. Craske's house, and as the treasurer did not appear suspicion deepened to conviction, and it was proposed to expel him. A committee was appointed, however, to labor with the dilatory treasurer first, and see if he was willing and able to make a settlement of his accounts. The money in question is the amount of yearly subscriptions for the prize pennant of the Commercial, Star, Dauntless, Munroe, Bedford and Putnam Clubs.

DETERMINED TO TAKE HER LIFE. DETERMINED TO TAKE HER LIFE.

On Thursday Maggie Trailer, age twenty-two, who has been employed for a month as waitress in the family of George Remsen, at Springfield, L. I., went to Long Beach. She acted strangely, and about 4 o'clock in the afternoon she was seen to go into the surf near the Life Saving Statton with all her ciothes on. John Denton, of Jamaica, without stopping to divest himself of his clothing, went in after her and succeeded in reaching her. She fought desperately, but an expert swimmer going to Mr. Denton's assistance she was safely taken to the shore. It was then discovered that the woman had placed her handkerchief in her mouth, and had nearly choked herself. After being supplied with dry clothing she was taken to Jamaica and placed in the care of the janitor of the Town Hall.

To Mrs. Hendricksen, the keeper's wife, she said that she was a native of Canada, where her parents live. The reason that she assigns for the act is "trouble." She says that she has seen nothing but trouble since she was born, and that she will accomplish her purpose, as she had nothing to live for.

THE PECULIAR CLOUD THAT OVER-SHADOWED NEW-ARK—STRANGE EFFECTS.

On Thursday night, while a heavy thunder-cloud was passing over Newark, there was an extraordinary play of lightning from the cloud. The block bounded by Esther and Lockwood sts. and Albert, ave. appeared to be encircled by a chain of fire-Six boys who were in a vacant lot were all prostrated, and one of them, Edward J. Dempsey, was killed. His clothing was stripped from his body, and his shoes were torn into fragments. The body of the boy was blackened and scorched as if by dame. A brother of Dempsey had his head severely injured. Patrick Kane was knocked senseless. John Dwyer and Patrick Fay were also injured.

John McGuire, a married man, who lives at No. 9 Esther-st., says that he was at a window on the second floor of his house, and while in the act of driving a nail into the outside of the window-frame, the hammer was struck by the lightning and was sent spinning over a table that stood near the window. The lightning also ignited the tobacco in his pipe which was in his mouth, and knocked the pipe out of his mouth and on to the table. He was rendered speechless for some time, his tongue appearing to be paralyzed. The plastering was torn from the chimney in the room. Mrs. James Leonard, of No. 9 Esther-st., affirms that when the snock came she was thrown to the floor and was unconscious for several moments. She felt "as if the top of her head was being taken off." It was stated that a man who was on his way home had a shovel knocked out of his bands by the lightning. Mrs. Bergen, of No. 251 Market-st., was in the yard of her house. She saw the lightning blazing all around her and it seemed to press her down to the ground. Near the spot where the boy Dempsey was killed the electric fluid infed one corner of the root of an outbuilding and shivered the boards into splinters. Mrs. Freeley, who lives in the house, said that she was in the kitchen at the time and that she felt as if it had been burned. The cloud is described as of a blue-black color

ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF SWINDLING. THE CASE OF W. AND J. SLOANE AGAINST L. B. DAY & CO., OF MILWAUKEE.

A dispatch from Milwaukee on Thursday announced the arrest in that city of John D. Van Nuyse, L. B. Day, Charles L. Day and Walter S. Hamilton, members of the well-known firm of L. B. Day & Co., dealers in carpets. They were arrested on the affidavit of Andrew Wright, a member of the firm of W. & J. Sloane, of New-York, who charged them with wrongfully converting property belonging to his firm to their own use, and of obtaining goods under false pretences. In speaking of the causes which led to the arrest A. R. Allen, the manager of credits for the firm of W. & J. Sloane, said to a Tribune reporter yesterday:

pretences. In speaking of the causes which lot to the firm of W. & J. Sloane, said to a Tribune reporter yesterday:

"L. B. Day, the head of the firm, was connected with the firm of Day Brothers, at Peoria, for more than twenty-five years. He had the reputation in the trade of being a first-class business man. Early in 1882 be withorew, and, in company with several others, organized the firm of L. B. Day & Co. in Milwaukee.

"They asserted that the new house had a paid-up capital of $40,000, and it was so rated by commercial agencies. The first purchases were discounted largely because of the high standing of the man who stood at its head. For six months the firm appeared to be doing a heavy business, and it was not until last month that we had any suspicions that its affairs were not on a solid basis. On June 18 Mr. Day visited our store and asked for indulgence in the payment of his bills to the firm on the plea that his collections had not met his expectations. He affirmed that his assets were $85,000, and his liabilities but $45,000. Having no reason to doubt his word we granted him an extension of time. Five days later his firm failed for $80,000. The amount due our house was $11,000.

"Mr. Day had told us that the firm of Day Brothers had no claim upon him, and yet a week or so after the failure was announced they got in a claim for $10,000 which had been secured by a chattel mortgage. We instructed our lawyer to make an investigation of the affairs of the firm, and he found that the statements which had been made in regard to its financial affairs were false, and that we had been secured the arrest of the members of the firm. I understand they have been allowed to give bail in the sum of $2,500. All of the men were well known, and their arrest has caused considerable excitement in Milwaukee. They will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

KILLED BY A TRAIN IN$ ATLANTIC-AVE.

Another fatal accident on the Long Island Railroad occurred yesterday morning. As a train to Brooklyn from Rockaway Beach, on the main line

Frances Gunzer, who is eighty years of age, started to cross the track a few feet in front of the engine.
The engineer blew his whistle and tried to reverse the engine, and the flagman on the opposite side of the track shouted to Mrs. Gunzer. She started to get out of the way, but was too late and the cow-catcher struck her. She was carried a few feet forward, and then the wheels of the engine passed over her body. She was instantly where she was well known. It was said that Mrs.

Gunzer was deaf and her eyesight was poor. It is supposed that she did not notice the approaching train until it was too late to get out of its way.
She was going from her home to the Post Office at

INSPECTING LORILLARD'S FACTORY.

Lawrence Fell, State Inspector under the Child-Labor law in New-Jersey, under an official visit yesterday to Lorillard's tobacco factory in Jersey City. He was received by a son of Pierre Lorillard and conducted through the establishment, where 3,000 men, women and children are employed. The inspector discovered thirty cases where the children were under age and had misrepresented their ages to the superintendents. He expressed much gratification with the care taken by the firm of the health of the employes. A physician is regularly employed to attend cases of sickness, and all who meet with accident while at work are pensioned the yearly amount now paid out for this purpose being $10,000, while the sum of $25,000 is disbursed at Christmas in presents to the working people. The firm expressed a desire to carry out the provisions of the law, but believed that the law should make education compulsory. It was suggested that school accommodations could be furnished in connection with the factory where children might be educated for half a day and be permitted to work in the factory the other half. The inspector was given the impression that the firm would take upon itself the expense of such a school.

To day the Lorillard factory will be closed and pense of such a school.

To-day the Lorillard factory will be closed and operatives will be treated to an excursion, the firm assuming all the expenses.

A PECULIAR CRAFT WITH A QUEER NAME.

A singular looking craft called the Yagua Jay is living in the Atlantic Basin, Brooklyn. An ordinary vesse would goliciheloottom under the weight of such a name, but the appearance of this one is in delightful harmony with ner appellation. She is a stern-wheel steamer sixty feet long by twenty feet beam, and when loaded she draws only twelve inches of water. A pilot-house, quarters for the crew, an engine-room and a diminutive galley are built on deck. Her engines are of twenty-four horse-power with eight-inch cylinders. The Yagua Jay was built by John G. Boland at Athens-on-the-Hudson for José Carbose, who has a sugar plantation on the Yagua Jay River in Cuba, whither the vessel will be taken.

It will be an achievement traught with no little danger to take a vessel of such light draught and such top works to Cuba, and the captain, it is said, will receive $2,000 if he takes the Yagua Jay there in safety. A PECULIAR CRAFT WITH A QUEER NAME.

CIGAR-MAKERS AND CLOAK-MAKERS. A PROBABLE RESULT OF THE LOCK-OUT. THE INTERNATIONAL AND PROGRESSIVE UNIONS LIKELY TO CONSOLIDATE.

The position of affairs as between the cigar manufacturers and the Progressive Union has not materially changed. Both sides appear to be confident of ultimate success and there is little talk of concessions. A large number of locked-out men have found other situations. The large shops in the city are taking in a considerable number of hands and there is a demand from out of town for cigar-makers. Altogether, about 700 men have secured places during the present week, and it is anticipated that more will find places before long. At the different shop meetings held yesterday and at the office of the Progressive Union the principal work was the paying out of the benefits to which members are entitled. Mr. Woytiseck said that the contributions to the strike fund from those members who are not out are coming in steadily, and that ait has also been received from outside organizations.

bers who are not out are coming in steadily, and that aid has also been received from outside organizations.

One result of the lock-out may be the bringing together of the Progressive and International Unions. The jealousies between these two organizations were the cause of the lock-out, and it was not anticipated that the two would work in unison. It was said that at a meeting of the officers of the International Union, however, the mater was discussed and the conclusion was reached that if the manufacturers should win in this fight against the Progressive Union, they would in all probability continue also to crush the International Union. It was thought, therefore, that it would be a good idea to assist the Progressive Union in this straggle. The International men think, too, that should the manufacturers be successful there would be a reduction of wages, and the members of both unions would be worse off than they are at present.

There will be a concert at Jones's Woods on August 4 by a number of German singing societies for the benefit of the locked-out employes.

A meeting attended by about 500 members of the International Union was held at No. 145 Essex-st. last night. The report that there was a movement on foot toward co-operating with the Progressive Union in forcing the lockout will end within the next ten days. There was considerable indignation expressed at the action of the Progressive Union in forcing the lockout.

The Executive Council of the Progressive Union the defeat the action of the Progressive Union the different shops. The reports all indicate a determination to hold out until the end.

cloak-makers steadily Gaining Ground.

The striking dress and cloak-makers are gradually gaining ground. A large and orderly meeting was held yesterday morning at Standard Hall, No. 165 East Broadway. The employes of Bohm Brothers and Gruenfeldt, of No. 82 Franklin-st., who had submitted to the terms of the strikers, returned to work. They numbered in all twenty men and thirty women. Mr. Saszky, of No. 10 Norfolk-st., employing between thirty and forty men and women, and Mr. Wielman, of No. 109 Hester.st., employing twenty-eight hands, also acceded to the demands of the strikers, and their hands returned to work. These employers are contractors. A letter was read from T. Garlick, offering to take back his hands at their own terms, and they will return to work this morning. A committee of five was appointed to visit the manufacturers and again submit the list of prices demanded by the strikers. It was proposed that the strikers should hold a pienic some day next week for the benefit of the strike fund. The treasurer reported that there was plenty of money in the treasury to enable them to hold out for six months if it were deemed necessary.

At the evening meeting it was reported that Rothschild & Co., of No. 54 Walker-st., had given in, and their men will go back to work this morning, Schutz & Blatt, of No. 356 Broadway, informed the strikers that they were ready to sign the agreement, and a committee waited on them but could find no member of the firm. Then it was decided that the firm must come to a meeting and sign. Mr. Adelstein, a contractor at No. 15 Norfolk-st., signed. The 300 girls employed by Goldsmand & Platt, Nos. 5 and 7 White-st., had left work at noon, but at 1:30 o'clock the firm signed and they returned to work. It was decided that no no of the workmen in the employ of only four should go to work until November, masmuch as he had insulted the committee that called on him. All the contractors have agreed to put their piece workers at work on the new schedule on Monday.

A meeting of the men empl tractors was held at No. 56 Orchard-st. Five firms have signed the circular agreeing to give out work only to members of the Associations. The following firms have signed: The Manhattan Suit and Cloak Company, Friedlander, Casper, Schutz & Blatt, Herman & Stix and Danzig Bros. It is expected that all the shops will have signed by to-morrow, financial affairs were faise, and that we had been swindled out of $11,000. We then secured the arrest of the members of the firm. I understand they have been allowed to give ball in the sum of $2,500. All of the men were well known, and their arrest has caused considerable excitement in Milwaukee. OPERATIONS OF HORSE THIEVES.

James Bray, of Matawan, N. J. had a valuable horse stolen on Tucsday night. A man answering to the description of John H. Rankin, a former employe of Mr. Bray, was seen with the horse the next day, and after several unsuccessful attempts, he succeeded in selling him for about one-half his value to a man named Smith. Detectives are looking for Rankin. He is supposed to be a member of a party of horse thieves that have infested Monmouth and Middlesex Counties for some and have stolen a number of horses from the farmers. Their plan of operation is to drive the borses to the shore from whence they are taken to New-York by boat and sold from exchange stables uptown. William Drummond Boak, the first of the party to be brought to trial, was convicted of stealing a horse valued at $300 from J. S. Lufborrow, of Eatontown. He was sentenced by Judge Scudder, on Thursday, to five years at hard labor in the State Prison at Trenton. Several other men have been arrested, and the authorities are endeavoring in every possible way to break up the gang.
